The Kind of Men Fremont Hates.

It has already been announced that Gen. Fremont has approved the verdict of the Court-Martial sentencing to be hanged two Secession marauders, Henry Kuhl and Hamilton W. Windon, for the murder of a young man, not a soldier, attached to one of our camps in Braxton county, Va. The Kanawha Republican says:

Their victim had been working for a farmer for a few weeks, and was on his return to camp, and on his way stopped at Kuhl's house to rest. Mrs. Kuhl went to the meadow, where her husband and son and Windon were mowing, and told them that there was a Union soldier at the house. The murdered man was not a soldier. The elder Kuhl told her to go back and tell the soldier to come out to the meadow to them. In the mean time his murderer was decided upon by the elder Kuhl and Windon, the young Kuhl not consenting.

When the young man came out to the meadow, the old man Kuhl approached him scythe in hand and with a single blow severed his head from his body. He and Windon then ripped open his bowels and thrust in the head and then threw the body into a ditch near by and covered it up. This is the substance of the old man's confession, as to the murder. When asked by the Provost Marshal what induced him to murder the inoffensive young man, he replied: "I do not know; I suppose the Devil made me do it."

The execution was fixed for May 9.

About Guerrillas.

The Louisville Journal, in noticing Gov. Johnson's proclamation about free-booters, says:

Gov. Johnson, of Tennessee, is pursuing the right course in regard to such acts. We gave his proclamation yesterday to the effect, that, as certain persons hostile to the U. S. Government, are going through many of the counties of Tennessee in bands, arresting plundering, and otherwise maltreating Union citizens, he will, for every Union man thus disarmed, have five or more of the prominent rebels in the immediate vicinity arrested and dealt with as the case may require; and that in all cases where the property of loyal citizens is taken or destroyed, full and ample remuneration shall be made to them out of the property of such rebels in the vicinity as have sympathized with the marauders, or given them aid and comfort. We presume, from the language of the proclamation, that its operation is to be exclusively prospective, and this is probably well enough, but there are unquestionably many cases where there would be no hardship, but rather a great deal of justice in carrying out the policy indicated by punishing in the manner indicated flagrant outrages already committed.

The Journal is certainly correct in its opinion, and to substantiate it, notices the effect of Gen. Halleck's stringent policy in Missouri.

This was the policy pursued by Gen. Halleck in Missouri, and the effect there was such as we may expect it to be in Tennessee. Gen. Halleck issued his proclamation, announcing what he would do, and straightway he proceeded to do it. The State was nearly overrun by guerrillas, who plundered Union men everywhere without scruple or remorse, but Gen. H., in pursuance of his notice given, had several prominent rebel citizens in the respective neighborhoods captured and held for every private Union citizen kept in confinement, and the property of rebel sympathizers, aiders and abettors seized as an indemnity to all the plundered loyal citizens, and instantly a loud howl went forth from the punished rebels and others afraid of punishment, appealing in the rebel guerrillas to abstain thereafter from all such deeds as they had previously committed, and invoking the regular military authorities to compel obedience to the appeal. The consequence was that guerrilla warfare ceased throughout Missouri at once, and to this day, it has not been revived. And Gov. Johnson's proclamation, we fully believe, will work with equal speed a similar reform in Tennessee.

The Governor of Alabama has issued a proclamation warning planters that if they plant more than one acre of cotton to the hand, "they will not be allowed to enjoy the fruits of such a selfish and unpatriotic course."

We wonder if Governor hasn't sold his cotton?
